Highway Construction $137 Million

A total of 169 road construction projects amounting to 290 miles in length and costing $137 million were completed in Virginia during the 1969-70 fiscal year, the State Highway Commission said today in its 63rd annual report.

In addition, 243 other projects totaling 588 miles in length were under way when the fiscal year ended June 30, the Commission said. Cost of these uncompleted projects is about $398 million.

The construction progress was noted in a 34 page report covering operations of the Department of Highways' 19 divisions and eight districts. It also includes discussions of three topics which the Commission observed occupied much of the time of highway employes during the year--environmental considerations in planning and construction, restoration after the Hurrican Camille flooding in August of 1969, and the State's unique experiment reserving lanes of the Shirley Highway in Northern Virginia for commuter buses during rush hours.

Construction work completed during the year included 47 projects totaling 92 miles and $71,-119,911 on the interstate system; 21 projects, 77 miles and $30,676,372 on the arterial network of four-lane divided highways; 17 projects, 25 miles and $5,486,878 on the regular primary system; 16 projects, 16 miles and $17,269,187 on the urban system, and 68 projects, 80 miles and $12,486,536 on the secondary system.

In the State's highway maintenance program, bituminous resurfacing was applied to 820 miles, mostly in the primary system, and 4,995 miles received lighter bituminous surface treatments. Repairs were made to 803 bridges, and the capacity of 138 other secondary system bridges was increased to 10 tons or more.

Poster Child For March Of Dimes

The youngest celebrity of the hour in Virginia is Stephen Wayne Hale, 7, of Lynchburg, who has been named March of Dimes State Poster Child for the annual campaign to prevent birth defects. The announcement came from Mr. Richard D. Obenshain, Virginia State Chairman of the 1971 March of Dimes.

"Birth defects can strike any family, anytime and anywhere," said Mr. Obenshain. "Stephen will represent some 5,500 babies born every year in Virginia who have been denied a healthy birth-right. Throughout the country, the figure climbs to about a quarter of a million.' Children afflicted with birth defects can receive medical services at the March of Dimes Birth Defects Center at University of Virginia Hospital in Charlottesville.

Stephen, who was born with kidney and ureter abnormalities, has been hospitalized 17 times in his short life. He also suffered from bilateral deafness. But this spunky youngster is not about to be defeated by his handicaps. His sunny personality and smiling, freckled face are symbols of one little boy's courage, and his desire to help others despite the fact he needs a good deal of help himself.
